NO FREIGHT WHATEVER. Only a Few Small Mail and Passenger

Trains Went Through Willimantic Wednesday.

The tic-up of the Central Vermont by the strike is about as bad locally us Tuesday was, no freight whatever has been received and none delivered. The men are still at their posts but are as Tuesday was no freight whatever has been received and none delivered. The men are still at their posts but are having a comparatively soft time of it, as but a few small trains and those mail passengers, are the only ones that went through here on Wednesday. It is rumored that President Hays has delivered an ultimatum to the strikers, giving them a certain specified time in which to signify their intention to return and if they do not accept its terms that their opportunity will be lost. The men seem to feel intention to return and if they do not accept its terms that their opportunity will be lost. The men seem to feel that the situation looks good to them as traffic is so generally tied up and no treights are being run.

In regard to the rumor that cars had been secured from the New Haven road and that same would be manned with a crew Thursday and loaded and sent out, a man in authority said that it was not so. He also said that the officials were not worrying about the non-forwarding of freight as yet, but would get the mall and passenger service straightened out first and then go after the freight tend of the business.

There were many friends present from Glasgo, Lisbon, Voluntown, Griswold and Jewett City, so that the large house was filled. The funeral Griswold and Jewett City, so that the large house was filled. The funeral discourse was by the Rev. George D. Stanley, pastor of the M. E. church in Jewett City. Not only were his remarks filled with consolation, but the passages of Scripture which he had selected were a choice which he every way tended to bring hope and cheer to the bereaved family and friends. There were two songs by the Olympian male quartette, When We Stand Before the King, and The Christian's Good Night. Many beautiful tokens of flowers were banked about the Good Night. Many beautiful tokens of flowers were banked about the room, showing in their profusion how many were her friends. The bearers were Arba Browning. Clarence Bit-good. Henry Cole and Walter Burdick. Burisi was in the Pachaug cemetery.

When Nature Hints About the Food

When there's no relish to any food and all that one cats doesn't seem to do any good then is the time to make a turn in the diet, for that's Nature's way of dropping a bint that the food isn't the kind required.

> Circus Drew Crowd from Here The village streets were deserted Wednesday, as everyone was atter Wednesday, as everyone was attending the circus in New London. The 8.48 trolley from here was packed even to standing on the running boards, and quite a number went by train rather than stand up all the way to Groton. Superintendent Ryley is to be congratulated on the way he handled the crowds. He had every car in the morning doubled and had every car in commission on the road to handle the crowds. Several parties went to New crowds. Several parties went to New London in motor boats. New Engine for Winsome

The cabin cruiser Winsome, belong-ing to F. C. Chudsey of New London is hauled out at the boat shop of Jeremiah Davis in the west cove, having a new four cylinder 20 horse power gas engine put in to replace a naphtha engine recently taken out. The naphtha engine would not develop speed The keel has been laid for a 28-foot power boat and several sharples will be commenced at once. At the shop of Webster Eldridge a 20-foot catboat is under construction Breezy Items.

We have inclined to the view that, owing to the great expensiveness and peculiarly enticing character of the automobile as a means of diversion and pleasure, the wasteful extravagances of the present time are rela-tively greater than were likely to have been indulged in previous times. But this may be a mistake. Horses dur-ing the war period were evidently near to a level with the automobile in cost against the craze while they them-selves are running into the same in-dulgence, but effective correction will Miss Martha Bothwell has gone to Dover. N. H. where she will assist Miss Kate Burnstead, who is the matron of the children's home in that place.
